

Intermediate Airport Liaison Representative Training

8 November 2010
Buenos Aires

This course is intended to provide training to enable a Local Runway Safety Team representative to upgrade to an ALR and become involved in airport operations and safety committees that go beyond the runway and taxiway safety issues.

The Intermediate ALR Course concentrates on providing a much deeper knowledge of the ICAO (and IFALPA) Annex 14 Standards and Recommended Practices (SARPS). It is based around the implementation of a Safety Management System; and through a series of modules, gives the participant a thorough understanding of the SARPS covering airport operations (and design) and goes into greater detail on wildlife mitigation methods, pavements, RFF, visual aids, RESA and other topics. The course is interspersed with real-life "case studies" based on IFALPA ALR's experience and other sources. These are analogous to a LOFT scenario with no right/wrong answers, but a need to apply the ICAO SARPS and manuals, and the IFALPA policies in a practical manner.

At the end of the seminar, the pilot participant should be able to assist airports in daily operations, modifications and remedial work. Completion of the basic and intermediate courses would qualify the pilot participant to become an accredited ALR, subject to the procedures laid down in the IFALPA A-Manual.

Venue

Located on the southern banks of the Rio del Plata, Buenos Aires is the capital of the Republic of Argentina and the country's largest city. It is a modern, dynamic and radiant city that features the European architecture of its founders and absorbs the passion of its people; the "Porteños" (people of the port). Considered by many to be the "The Pearl" of South America, Buenos Aires has an intense cultural life where tango, long coffee klatches and football are essential elements in its people's daily lives.

The venue for the I ALR is the Park Chateau Hotel which is located among the designer shops of the fashionable Recoleta quarter of the city. The Hotel is around 25km from The Ministerio Pistarini International Airport. Special rates have been secured for those attending IFALPA Training with both Single and Double rooms available for US$ 108.90 per night including breakfast, taxes and wifi access. To take advantage of this rate attendees must make their reservation direct with the hotel before 5 October using the reservation form on page 3.
